

Scripture Union are inviting donations to the 2022 Holidays Sponsorship Appeal.

After the turmoil of the last two years, we are delighted to look forward in confidence to a full residential programme.

We are aware of many children and young people who missed so much because of lockdown, including their first experience of SU Holidays. Although online events and short expeditions were a great substitute, we know there is a great appetite for a return to residential holidays. Donations to this year's appeal will remove financial barriers for many young people.

Your gifts will mean...

* SU Holidays are available to everyone: families who need help for their children, refugees, asylum seekers and others who depend on sponsorship.

* holidays for young people from disadvantaged communities are possible: the programme of Motiv8 holidays, with higher leader-to- young person ratios, is heavily supported by your gifts.

* committed teams of volunteers can run our holidays: we need many team members for each event, but not all can contribute towards holiday costs.

Enabling young people to enjoy brilliant SU Holidays, Weekends and the Magnitude festival is at the heart of our plan to recover from Covid-19. New for 2022 is a bake-off holiday and one with an environmental focus. Feedback consistently emphasises that significant friendships are formed at SU Holidays. However, it is our teams' ethos to help young people discover God's love, explore the Christian faith, respond and flourish as disciples of Jesus, which is our key motivation.

SU Holidays matter! Not just because they are places of great fun and connection, nor because they are still relevant and accessible for young people from every background, but because they are places where young people meet Jesus.

Can I ask you to give generously in 2022? Your support means children and young people in Scotland will once more enjoy life-changing holidays.

Thank you!

Jackie Ringan

Director of Development & Holidays
