I would like to thank the Church and the congregation on behalf of Kirkcaldy Foodbank for your generous support in donating food. Every donation is really appreciated by the foodbank and those it helps and even more crucial in these challenging times.

Things have been made difficult for most of us throughout this pandemic but for those who struggle financially day by day these extra stresses can mean breaking point for many.

As we enter 2022 we still see the negative impact of the issues raised by lockdowns, furloughs and potential job losses and the foodbank continues to see an increase in the number of people needing support and struggling to feed themselves and their families.

The positive response from the community has been quite staggering with those from all ages and from all walks of life reaching out to help those in need despite the added pressures on us all. Your donations are extremely important.

With heartfelt thanks again for your support during 2021. Lets look forward with optimism that solutions can be found to combat the issues made greater by the pandemic and with the sincere hope that there will come a day when foodbank charities will be a thing of the past.
